

Component inventory

Every reusable part of the EN app, pulled straight from the screens it ships on — the same `MatchCard`, `BottomNav` and lifecycle code render below. Each entry shows the live component, its states, and where it lives.

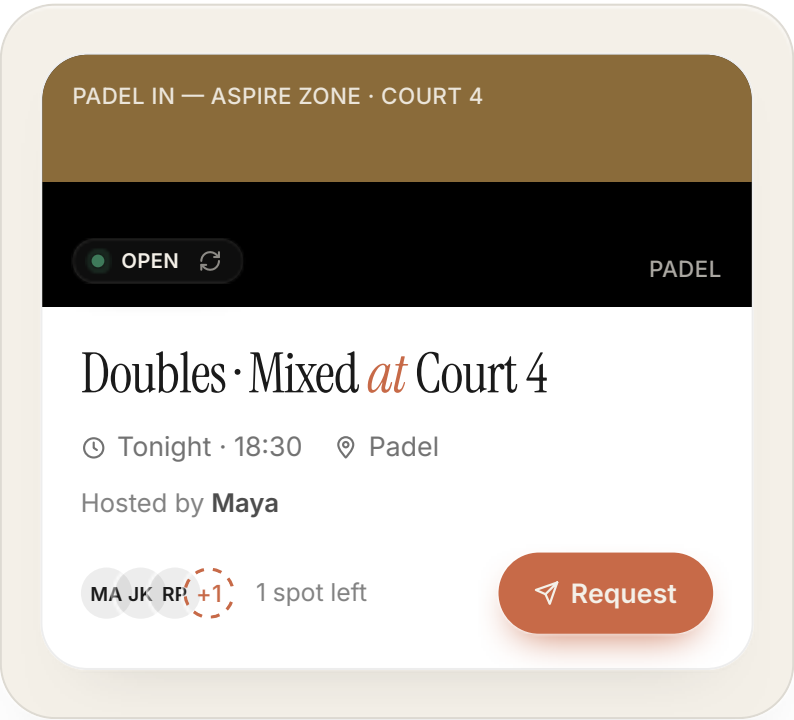

01	Match card	the canonical one	02	Buttons	primary · secondary · text
03	Inputs	text · selector · date · stepper	04	Player avatar	initials fallback
05	Badges	level · attendance · status	06	Bottom tab bar	Discover · Home · Chat
07	Chat system line	match events in a thread	08	Toast	confirm · event · push

01

Match card

THE canonical unit. Sport · date/time · venue · spots left · host + avatar · skill level · fee · status — every match list in the app is built from it.

AS SHIPPED · JOIN / REQUEST

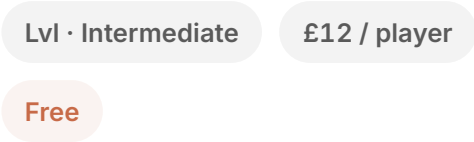

home-screens.jsx · `<MatchCard action="join" lifecycle/>` – tap the status pill to cycle all 6 states

ANATOMY

One card, eight slots:

- Sport — top-right eyebrow on the court art
- Venue · court — top-left eyebrow
- Status — tappable lifecycle pill, bottom-left
- Title — `kind` `at` `court`, Instrument Serif
- Date / time — meta row with clock + pin
- Host + avatar — “Hosted by” line & avatar stack
- Spots left — avatar stack overflow + caption
- Action — Join / Request / View / state action

Skill level & fee ride as meta chips — tabular figures so values never jitter:

02 Buttons

Fully-pillled. One brand fill for the single primary action on a screen; outline and text recede. Height sets the size — 44 for CTAs, 38 in-card.

SIZES

03 Inputs

Paper fields on cream. Soft 14px corners for fields, full pills for chips. Focus rings borrow the muted accent, not the brand fill.

Badges

Small status carriers. One chroma family — hue does the talking.
Tinted fills for semantics, neutral pill for skill.
